

Our Story.

The need for accurate, proactive, and efficient screening spurred Kyle Powell and John Hawes' development of SureHire in 2003. Since then, SureHire has revolutionized the occupational testing industry across Canada and into the United States.

Our client experience is distinguished by accuracy, efficiency, and simplicity. We work with our clients to build foundations for safe, healthy, and productive workforces and communities through customized solutions, innovative technology, and a team of dedicated, knowledgeable professionals that give employers peace of mind knowing they've got the right hire for the job.

Our Team.

We are a dynamic family committed to our core purpose, core values, and to providing exceptional customer service. We are:

Positive. Facing new challenges with enthusiasm, supporting one another, and working together with intelligence and positivity.

Relentless. Endlessly looking to improve our services, refine our processes, and to be top performers in our field.

Innovative. Setting standards of excellence in occupational testing by continuous improvement of our services and processes.

Passionate. About each other, the work we do, and making North America's workplaces safer, healthier, and more productive.

Accountable. For our actions and our words, our commitment to all of our clients, and to our SureHire family.
